Masterclass, based at the Theatre Royal Haymarket, offers free talks, workshops, career advice events and special projects with leading theatre professionals to anyone aged 17 – 30. The Masters give their time and expertise to the next generation and participants come away informed and inspired. Open access means that any young person, regardless of ability, knowledge or background can benefit from the programme.

Since 1998, Masterclass has worked with over 45,000 young people from London, the rest of the UK and abroad. Each year at least 30 events are staged, 10,000 audience and participatory places are offered and 9 apprentice and I can't recommend it highly enough.

David Hare, Playwright

placements are provided – giving exceptional access to the theatre industry for those at the start of their careers. With a list of 190 masters so far, including; Helen Mirren; Derek Jacobi; Alan Ayckbourn; Debra Warner; Ewan McGregor and Sonia Friedman; Masterclass provides a much needed and unique range of opportunities for young people.

Masterclass is a charity and needs the support of benefactors to continue the work we do for young people. For as little as £55 a year, you can become a part of the Masterclass Production and help to inspire the next generation of theatre makers.

“ Masterclasses at the Haymarket are simply amazing! ”
I have found it really hard keeping up with some sort of training while working because classes are so expensive, but Masterclass is brilliant, not only are you learning from the best in the industry but it is free!
